

LabCorp Pap Test Patient Information Service

Patient's Name _____

Collection Date _____

Your physician has sent your Pap specimen to LabCorp for analysis. As a convenience to you, LabCorp offers a Pap Test Patient Information Service that allows you to check on the status of your Pap specimen. This system is available online or by calling a toll-free telephone number using a touch-tone phone.

Web-site address: www.LabCorp.com/patientinfo

Toll-free telephone number: 888-567-8723

To access the Pap Test Patient Information Service:

1. Call 888-567-8723 or go to www.LabCorp.com/patientinfo 10 or more business days after your Pap specimen has been collected. Both options are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Carefully follow the system prompt instructions as provided.
2. When prompted, please enter your nine-digit Social Security number.
3. When prompted, please enter your date of birth. Please follow the specific instructions provided for the system that you are using (online [mm/dd/yyyy] or phone [mm/dd/yy]).
4. You will be prompted to enter the date your Pap specimen was collected. Please follow the specific instructions provided for the system that you are using (online or phone). If all three pieces of information are entered correctly, the system will respond with the status of your Pap specimen.

LabCorp is pleased to offer this service to physicians and their patients; however, LabCorp does not offer medical advice. Please contact your physician with any questions. Results will be available for as long as 90 days following the date of collection.
